

The nose is a shallow place

by Paul Turner

The nose is a shallow place,
sly breaths,
as though an excuse,
as though unnoticed.

The letting go after a long phrase
is a mouthful:
let it out, let it in,

And again, suck the air.